Case No. 2:17-cv-01146-RAJ

DEFENDANT SHRINIVAS
SUGANDHALAYA LLP'S REPLY IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO STAY
PENDING APPEAL

RE-NOTED ON MOTION CALENDAR:
AUGUST 10, 2018

ORAL ARGUMENT REQUESTED

20 Plaintiff Balkrishna Setty is suing “as general partner in the Shrivinas Sugandhalaya
21 Partnership with Nagraj Setty.” Both Balkrishna and his company Shrinivas Sugandhalaya
22 (BNG) LLP (“BNG LLP”) claim that when defendant Shrinivas Sugandhalaya LLP (“SS LLP”)
23 applied for and defended its trademark registrations, it did so “in violation of the Partnership
24 Deed . . .” Dkt. No. 1, at ¶¶124-125, 129. Plaintiffs claim that the “Partnership’s inability to 25 obtain a federal trademark application protecting its SHRINIVAS SUGANDHALAYA mark”
26 somehow damaged them. Dkt. No. 1, at ¶¶154-155. Plaintiffs request that this Court “enter a

1 judgment that the SHRINIVAS SUGANDHALAYA mark is . . . owned exclusively by the
 2 Partnership” and that this Court “declare that Plaintiffs are authorized by the Partnership to use
 3 the SHRINIVAS SUGANDHALAYA mark,” such that Plaintiffs’ use does not infringe any 4 rights of defendant Shrinivas Sugandhalaya LLP (“SS LLP”). Dkt. No. 1, at 70, 74.

5 The Deed of Partnership defines the parties as Nagraj and Balkrishna, along with their 6 “heirs, executors, administrators and assign.” Dkt. No. 60-1, at 2. BNG LLP claims to be such 7 an “assign” via Balkrishna Setty (Dkt. No. 1, ¶¶51-52, 183) and admits that SS LLP is a similar
 8 such “assign” via Nagraj Setty.¹ Dkt. No. 1, ¶54. Thus, both plaintiff BNG LLP and defendant
 9 SS LLP are “parties” to the Deed of Partnership, according to plaintiffs’ own admissions. This is 10 congruent with the arbitration clause, which is governed by the “Indian Arbitration Act, 1940 or 11 any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force.” Dkt. No. 60-1, at 7. The most 12 recent modifications to that Act extend the right to arbitration to any “party to the arbitration
 13 agreement or any person claiming through or under him.” Dkt. No. 60-5, at 3; accord Chloro
 14 Controls India (P), Ltd. v. Severn Trent Water Purification, Inc., (2013) 1 SCC 641, ¶167 (Dkt.
 15 No. 68-1).

16 Whether plaintiffs’ claims must be arbitrated will now be decided by the Ninth Circuit.
 17 The only issue before this court is whether the proceedings should be stayed while SS LLP briefs
 18 and argues the “legitimate, substantial questions” (perhaps even novel questions) raised by the 19 plaintiffs’ attempts to claim Partnership rights while avoiding their arbitration obligations.
 20 Rajagopalan v. Noteworld, LLC, No. C11-5574 BHS, 2012 WL 2115482, at *2 (W.D. Wa.
 21 June 11, 2012). SSI LLP will suffer irreparable injury if it must litigate while trying to preserve
 22 its right to arbitrate. Rajagopalan, 2012 WL 2115482, at *3. A stay will not substantially injure 23 other parties here and the public interest generally supports a stay, as further explained below.
 24

25 ¹ The plaintiffs state the Partnership has never assigned its trademark rights to “any third party . . .” Dkt. No. 1, 26 ¶48. To enforce the Partnership’s alleged trademark rights, BNG LLP necessarily assumes that it is a “party” to the Partnership as defined by the Deed of Partnership, not a third party (i.e., non-party).

1 A. SS LLP'S APPEAL WILL PRESENT SUBSTANTIAL LEGAL QUESTIONS,
2 AND ARBITRABILITY IS INTERTWINED WITH THE MERITS.

3 “In the Federal Arbitration Act, Congress has instructed federal courts to enforce
4 arbitration agreements according to their terms” Epic Systems Corp. v. Lewis, 138 S.Ct.
5 1612, 1619 (2018). Plaintiffs’ claims all depend upon, and indeed ask for a declaration
6 regarding, their alleged rights arising under the Deed of Partnership. Plaintiffs admit that SS
7 LLP also asserts rights derived from the Partnership. Dkt. No. 1, ¶54. BNG LLP and SS LLP
8 are “assigns” of their respective owners (brothers Balkrishna and Nagraj Setty respectively),
9 which is sufficient under the Deed of Partnership to compel arbitration.² The question of 10 whether these companies qualify as “parties” for purposes of the arbitration clause presents a
11 substantial legal question that should be reviewed by the Ninth Circuit before this litigation 12 proceeds further.

13 Courts recognize that whether a litigant has actually signed the agreement containing an 14 arbitration clause is not dispositive, especially when there is a “close relationship between the 15 entities involved, as well as the relationship of the alleged wrongs to the nonsignatory’s 16 obligations and duties in the contract . . . and the claims [are] ‘intimately founded in and 17 intertwined with the underlying contract obligations.’” Sunkist Soft Drinks, Inc. v. Sunkist
18 Growers, Inc., 10 F.3d 753, 757-58 (11th Cir.1993), cert. denied, 513 U.S. 869, 115 S.Ct. 190, 19 130 L.Ed.2d 123 (1994)(quoting McBro Planning & Dev. Co. v. Triangle Elec. Constr. Co., 741
20 F.2d 342, 344 (7th Cir.1984)); accord J.J. Ryan & Sons, Inc. v. Rhone Poulenc Textile, S.A., 863
21 F.2d 315, 320-21 (4th Cir.1988). Indeed, the Second Circuit compelled a non-signatory to 22 arbitrate its alleged trademark claims in similar circumstances. Deloit NORAudit A/S v. Deloitte
23 Haskins & Sells, U.S., 9 F.3d 1060 (2nd Cir. 1993).

24

25 ² “If agents could not invoke their principals’ arbitration provisions, a party easily could ‘avoid the practical 26 consequences of an agreement to arbitrate by naming nonsignatory parties [as defendants] . . . ,’ thereby effectively nullifying the arbitration agreement. Legacy Wireless Services, Inc. v. Human Capital, L.L.C., 314 F.Supp.2d 1045, 1054 (D. Or. 2004)(quoting Arnold v. Arnold Corp., 920 F.2d 1269, 1281 (6th Cir. 1990)). Such is the situation here.

1 From that case and others has emerged the theory of “direct benefits estoppel.”
 2 “Equitable estoppel typically applies to third parties who benefit from an agreement made
 3 between two primary parties.” Nguyen v. Barnes & Noble Inc., 763 F.3d 1171, 1179 (9th Cir.
 4 2014). When a litigant (such as BNG LLP) asserts causes of action that arise from rights derived
 5 from the contract containing an arbitration clause, “direct benefits estoppel” will prevent it from 6 avoiding the arbitration obligation in that contract. American Bureau of Shipping v. Tencara
 7 Shipyard S.P.A., 170 F.3d 349, 353 (2nd Cir. 1999); accord Legacy Wireless Services, Inc. v.
 8 Human Capital, L.L.C., 314 F.Supp.2d 1045, 1056 (D. Or. 2004) (recognizing that estoppel 9 principles are applied more broadly when a non-signatory seeks to compel a signatory to 10 arbitrate, but even non-signatories can be compelled to arbitrate when they claim a direct 11 benefit). Here, Balkrishna is a signatory and both he and his company BNG LLP claim that they 12 are entitled to benefits derived from the Deed of Partnership. E.g., Dkt. No. 1, ¶¶ 51-52, 109-10, 13 126-27, 135, 148-49, 154-56, 159-61, 183, 186. SS LLP will present a substantial question as to 14 whether it should be able to compel both plaintiffs to arbitrate the actual scope of their alleged 15 Partnership rights in India before proceeding further here.

16 This is so even in light of the Ninth Circuit’s recent decision in Yang v. Majestic Blue
 17 Fisheries, LLC, 876 F.3d 996 (2017). In that case, the Ninth Circuit considered the “signed by 18 the parties” language of Article II(2) of the Convention on the Enforcement of Foreign Arbitral
 19 Awards (see 9 U.S.C. §201 et seq.). The trial court compelled a seaman’s widow to arbitrate
 20 wrongful death claims against his employer (“Majestic Blue”), but refused to compel her to 21 arbitrate her claims against a related company (“Dongwon”) that signed the agreement on behalf
 22 of Majestic Blue, but was not identified as a “party.” The Ninth Circuit affirmed the trial court’s 23 decision, finding that because Dongwon did not sign as a “party,” it could not enforce the 24 agreement. Yang, 876 F.3d at 998.

25 The same is not true of SS LLP here. As discussed above, the Deed of Partnership
 26 defines the “parties” as the brothers Nagraj and Balkrishna Setty, along with their “heirs,

1 executors, administrators and assign” respectively. Dkt. No. 60-1, at 2. Like the widow in Yang
 2 (who was not a signatory, but an heir) and Majestic Blue Fisheries (the employer in Yang who
 3 also was not a signatory but was able to compel arbitration), SS LLP is entitled to compel
 4 arbitration against both plaintiffs even if it did not sign, because it is a “party” for purposes of the 5 Deed of Partnership.³

6 Moreover, unlike Dongwon, SS LLP moved to dismiss or stay, and refer the matter to 7 arbitration (Dkt. No. 59), under both Chapter 1 of the FAA (i.e., 9 U.S.C. § 2), as well as 8 Chapter 2 (i.e., the Convention).⁴ Dkt. No. 59. Chapter 1 operates concurrently with Chapter 2, 9 and “generally declares valid and enforceable written provisions for arbitration … in any 10 contract evidence a transaction involving interstate or foreign commerce.” Freudensprung v.

11 Offshore Technical Services, Inc., 379 F.3d 327, 338 (5th Cir. 2004) (citing 9 U.S.C. § 2).
 12 “Foreign commerce” is broadly construed. Societe Generale de Surveillance, S.A. v. Raytheon
 13 Management and Systems Co., 643 F.2d 863, 867 (1st Cir. 1981). Contracts “signed and to be 14 performed in a foreign country” constitute “foreign commerce” for purposes of Chapter 1. Al-
 15 Slamah Arabian Agencies Co., Ltd. v. Reece, 673 F. Supp. 748, 750 (M.D.N.C. 1987).

16 SS LLP believes that it will convince the Ninth Circuit that it does qualify as a “party”
 17 for purpose of the Deed of Partnership, especially in light of the Supreme Court’s recent 18 guidance in Epic Systems. But SS LLP will also present substantial questions of whether and 19 how courts should construe arbitral provisions involving foreign nationals, which questions
 20 should be decided before this case proceeds.

 22 ³ Plaintiffs contend “federal common law” applies to interpreting the Deed of Partnership. However, such federal 23 common law would look to the laws of India to interpret the contract when it is made by Indian parties to form a
 24 partnership in India. RESTATEMENT (SECOND) OF CONFLICT OF LAWS § 188 (1971) (stating that in the 25 absence of a choice of law provision, the court should determine applicable law based on the local law of the state to 26 which the contract is most connected – e.g., place of contracting, place of negotiation, residence of parties, etc.).
 Under Indian law, any litigant claiming through a party to the arbitration agreement must arbitrate. Dkt. No. 60-1, at 7.

⁴ Because “contracts of employment of seamen” were excluded from the scope of the FAA pursuant to 9 U.S.C. § 1,
 Dongwon and Majestic Blue only sought to compel arbitration pursuant to the Convention. Yang, 876 F.3d at 1002.

1 B. SS LLP WILL SUFFER IRREPARABLE INJURY.

2 In ‘the special context of [a] denied motion to compel arbitration, the second factor [i.e.,
 3 irreparable injury to appellant] will generally be satisfied.’ Murphy v. DirecTV, Inc., No. 2:07-
 4 cv-06465-FMC, 2008 WL 8608808, at *3 (C.D. Cal. July 1, 2008). The loss of a potential right
 5 to arbitrate is irreparable. E.g., Rajagopalan, 2012 WL 2115482, at *3; Sample v. Brooksdale
 6 Senior Living Communities, Inc., 2012 WL 195175, *2 (W.D. Wash., January 23, 2012).

7 C. PLAINTIFFS WILL NOT BE HARMED.

8 Plaintiffs claim “harm” because R. Expo’s counter-claims against them (and their agent)
 9 will still be pending while the case is on appeal. Dkt. No. 83, at 9. But even R. Expo’s
 10 counterclaims seek clarification of the Partnership’s rights, and depend in part on the conclusion
 11 that the Partnership does not have certain rights. E.g., Dkt. No. 10, at 2 n. 1 & 2. There is no
 12 prejudice to Plaintiffs in having this matter stayed while the Ninth Circuit determines whether 13 the Partnership’s rights should be determined by arbitration in India, or in this litigation.

14 Further, Plaintiffs have not demonstrated that any evidence is or will be lost. Their 15 conjecture otherwise is just that. Finally, Plaintiffs claim that SS LLP will continue to “infringe”
 16 – but according to Plaintiffs’ own complaint, the trademark rights belong to the Partnership, not 17 plaintiffs. Those partnership rights should be determined by arbitration in India.

18 D. THE PUBLIC INTEREST FAVORS A STAY.

19 The public interest generally favors a stay in these situations. Rajagopalan, 2012 WL
 20 2115482, at *4-5. This is especially so when the parties are mostly foreign nationals, and the 21 dispute involves novel issues under the FAA and the Convention. Mitsubishi Motors Corp. v.
 22 Soler Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc., 473 U.S. 614, 631, 105 S.Ct. 3346 (1985).
